WHAT TO DO BEFORE APPLYING FOR FINANCIAL AID

- 1 Determine how much money you will need for your education

Ask yourself how much money you have to cover your current obligations and then determine how much more you will need to fund your education. Do you have savings or investments that can defray the direct and indirect costs of your education?

Though you may be eligible for more financial aid funding than you actually need, we cannot stress enough: Only apply for the amount you need to help fund your education. Financial aid should not be used for anything other than your education.
- 2 Confirm your acceptance

Before you begin the financial aid application process, contact the Admissions Office to apply for admission to the DEMSN program. You may apply for financial aid while waiting for acceptance, but you must be accepted for admission before financial aid can be awarded.
- 3 Be aware of deadlines

Regardless of the type or source of the aid for which you are applying, be aware of application deadlines, documentation requirements, and the timing of disbursements.
- 4 Explore your financial aid options

Only student loans are offered by TLU for the DEMSN program. You may also want to explore grants and scholarships from private and nonprofit institutions. Taking the time to discover funding options may save you money in the long run.
- 5 Obtain more financial aid information

Visit tlu.edu/types-of-financial-aid. This site provides valuable and detailed information about the financial aid process, answers to frequently asked questions, financial aid forms, financial aid links and more.
- 6 Do your career homework

Be realistic about how much money you will earn starting out as a nurse. Do research ahead of time on annual salaries in the markets you expect to work in and the type of institutions at which you may gain employment. By knowing your expected salary and your total monthly obligations, you can estimate your ability to make loan payments each month. Loans involve interest accruals and the costs of your loan can increase significantly based on how fast you are able to pay your loan(s) back; this is important to consider as loan payments may affect you financially for years.

FINANCIAL AID OPTIONS & RESOURCES

Grants and scholarships

Grants and scholarships are often available through local organizations and private foundations and are not required to be repaid. Spending a little time doing internet research will reveal numerous options that could help fund your education.

Options to explore include:

Students may apply for Graduate Federal Direct PLUS loans at studentaid.gov. Students must also file the FAFSA to be eligible for this loan.

Any student may apply for private/alternative loans. Some lenders who offer these loans are available at <https://www.elmselect.com/v4/school/358/program-select>.

Outside scholarships can be found by using free scholarship search services such as fastweb.com, scholarships.com, and thescholarshipssystem.com among many others. Loans

Federal Direct Loans are the most common type of educational loans and they are funded by the federal government. Federal Direct Loans may offer lower interest rates than private loans. These loans can be either Unsubsidized Direct Loans or Graduate PLUS Loans.

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loans

- No requirement for financial need.
- School determines the amount you may borrow based on school cost and other aid you may receive; the maximum annual amount is $20,500.
- Interest accrues as soon as the loan is issued.
- You may choose whether to pay interest while in school, but the interest will accrue during that time.
- You must be enrolled at least half time, which is defined as at least three credits per semester.
- There is a six-month grace period before repayment begins.

Each student should review his/her borrowing history and current loan statuses online at studentaid.gov. It is important that students be aware of their cumulative loan debt and that they take appropriate actions to avoid default.

Aggregate Loan Limits: Students borrowing a Federal Direct Student Loan are subject to maximum allowable loan limits. The maximum Aggregate Loan Limit restricts the amount of Federal Student Loans that may be borrowed over a student's college career.

Aggregate Loan Limits – Federal Student Loans

Graduate and Professional Students

$138,500 *This includes undergraduate loans

Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loans are credit-based loans that graduate or professional students can use to help pay for college or career school. Graduate PLUS loans can be used in addition to Direct Unsubsidized Loans.

Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loans

- The U.S. Department of Education is the lender.
- A credit check is required, and borrowers who have an adverse credit history must meet additional requirements to qualify.
- The maximum loan amount is the cost of attendance (determined by the school) minus any other financial aid received.
- An origination fee of approximately 4.2 percent is deducted from each disbursement by the U.S. Department of Education.

For more information about Federal Direct Loans, visit studentaid.gov or contact Student Financial Services at (830) 372-8010.
